west and was captured by Radley and Constable Hemstreet in the evening. He was taken to Colum-is the universal verdict. Chamber-George Redpath, a sergeant in the rough riders, whose home is just across the Kansas line in Oklahoma, writes as follows from Santiago: "After the first day's battle was over I was the happiest man on the soil of Cuba. I don't mind telling you that I had half a notion that I was a coward. I had taken the place of sergeant and I knew it would be awful if I ran away. I didn't think I would run away, but I did have a sneaking notion that I might show the white feather some way. When the bullets first commenced to come whizz-a-z whizz-a-z, plunk, I tell you my heart went up into my throat, but I grit my teeth, gave a yell and charged right along with the rest of the boys. The scare was over in a minute, and I believe I can go into the next battle and joke like some of the boys did in this one, for I know now that I have nerve enough to stay."

WHO WON THE FIGHT?

One of the special correspondents with the American ships off Santiago telegraphs to his paper an account of an interesting incident which occurred when the news of the Spanish surrender reached the fleet. After the men had cheered themselves hoarse some reference to the destruction of Cervera's fleet was made, and a blue-jacket on the Brooklyn sang out: "Three cheers for Commodore Schley." The correspondent continues the story thus:

"The figures on the turrets and superstructure jumped to life, while the air was rent by their shouts.
"Three times three."
"The response was enthusiastic, and then from the gloom on the port side of the Brooklyn came an answering cheer. The gallant crew of the Indiana had caught the message, and they, too, were cheering.
"When they had quieted down Commodore Schley, who had been deeply touched, said:
"Thank you, boys, but I didn't do it. You're the boys who did it.
Let the officers cheer the crew."
"Every officer joined in hearty cheers. These were repeated when the commodore shouted:
"To the men behind the guns."
"Cheers were then given for the engineers and the brave force of men who worked below."

This is merely a passing incident, but it is significant in showing the feeling that exists between officers and seamen in the American navy.
If Schley did not win the naval victory at Santiago he evidently believes that he knows who did.

Following is an extract from a letter from Corporal Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Martin, of this city: "Dear father and mother: —I am still living and well. We have been fighting since the first of this month. The Americans lost in killed and wounded is about 1500. Spanish loss about 1200. We summer we had three cases of bloody flux in our family which we cured in less than one week with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In some instances there were twenty hemor-

Hon. A. H. Skidmore was in town Tuesday looking after his political fences. Mr. Skidmore is the Republican candidate for judge of the Eleventh Judicial District, and although we do not personally agree with him politically, yet we feel that he will be elected this fall. His opponent, Mr. Stanford, we know nothing of, but we do know Andy Skidmore, and knowing as we do that his past record on the bench is in his favor, we have no hesitancy in picking him for a winner. The office of trial judge should not be one of political preference, and we hope the voters will look at the matter in the same light this fall.

A GOOD WOMAN GONE.

On Tuesday evening, July 19, 1898, about 10 o'clock Mrs. Sarah Cheshire, wife of John Cheshire, aged sixty-eight years, passed away at her home on East River street.

Mrs. Cheshire had been ailing for some time, but her condition was not regarded as serious, in fact she had hardly been confined to her bed. Death resulted from heart trouble.

Short funeral services were held on Wednesday morning of this week, conducted by Rev. E. B.
Whitney of the First Presbyterian church of this city, after which the remains were taken to the family lot in the cemetery at Indianola, Iowa, where they were interred Thursday.

Mrs. Cheshire was a good woman in every sense of the word. In fact it may be said that the world is much better because of her having lived in it. Her children say, as they should, that "no children ever had a better, more kind and indulgent mother," and her husband lost the greatest prize man ever had.

Deceased was born in Nelsonville, Ohio, where she was married in 1851 to Mr. Cheshire. They lived in Ohio until 1856 when they moved to Iowa where they lived until 1865, then moving to Fort Scott. They lived in Fort Scott a short time and moved to Baxter Springs. Five children were the result of this marriage, four of whom are living.
They are M. W. Cheshire and Mrs.
Hattie Smith of this city, Mrs. Barker of Indianola, Iowa, and F. H.
Cheshire of Galena.

Mrs. Cheshire was a devout member of the Presbyterian church for thirty years and found much comfort in reading her bible, the pages of which are well worn by her fingers.

The husband, Mrs. Smith, Mrs.
Barker and grandson of the deceased, Burton Smith, accompanied the remains to Indianola.

The News extends the sympathy of the entire community to Mr.
Cheshire and his children in this their great bereavement.

THAT GLORIOUS RAIN.

That rain which began falling Wednesday morning at 1 o'clock and lasted, with but slight intermission, until Thursday was quite old, was a veritable Godsend. Crops of all kinds were vastly benefited and an enormous yield of corn is assured. Aside from the benefit to crops, the dust is turned to mud and everybody rejoices. The rain fell gently, every drop of it soaking into the parched earth, and there was not a bit of wind accompanying it. Something unusual for the time of year.

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned for furnishing twenty-five tons (more or less, as may be needed) of good bright straw in bales weighing not less than seventy pounds each; straw is to be delivered at New Camp Logan. Bids will be opened on August 15, 1898. F. R. MCGREGOR, Q. M.

home with him, a dozen bottles of the medicine. The druggist who relates the incident, adds: "Your
